IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.
The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem proper and best.

In the first place, the Congress of the United States, in the name of the People, do hereby declare that the United States, in and by their Representatives in Congress, have approved and confirmed the Declaration of Independence, and that the same is hereby declared to be the true and correct Declaration of Independence of the United States of America.

2022 Book Bans and Censorship

The American Library Association reported a record number of book ban attempts in 2022.

According to Deborah Caldwell-Stone, director of ALA's Office for Intellectual Freedom, "The record number of book challenges we're reporting today are not the result of a parent filing authentic requests for reconsideration. Overwhelmingly, we're seeing groups and individuals at library board meetings demand the removal of long lists of books obtained from organized censorship groups who share these lists on social media."

What can we do to support libraries with this ongoing and increasing concern?

- Check the updated Unite Against Book Bans website for new data on the 2022 book bans and censorship.
- Promote awareness of this issue faced by libraries.
- Become familiar with the challenge support available from the American Library Association.
- Review the Ask the Lawyer post regarding the Dos and Don'ts Of Addressing School Library Censorship.
